Darcie finds the fulfillment of her own dreams by encouraging women to think big, pursue their passions and achieve their personal best. In particular, she enjoys teaching leadership skills to women at all stages in their careers, giving them the encouragement, confidence, and inspiration to grow.

She describes her work with women as the most rewarding of her career.

As a believer in the mantra, “Do what you love and love what you do,” Darcie incorporated her love of horses into her leadership training through a workshop encouraging women to embrace their power and use it for the greater good. She weaves her love of movies into a leadership course, using movie clips to demonstrate leadership qualities of women need. She loves to travel, practice yoga and especially loves to cook for friends and family, finding every excuse to gather people around a feast.

In 2010 Darcie was named Oklahoma Women in Business Champion by the Small Business Administration. Her achievements have been recognized by The Oklahoman, the Edmond, OK Chamber of Commerce, WE Magazine, The Journal Record and the Oklahoma Hospitality Club.

Darcie is a respected media resource on women’s leadership and entrepreneurship and a regular editorial columnist for The Journal Record, the Executive Women’s Journal (published by EWF International) and is widely published on the internet.
